After Thirty Years McGill Seeks Aid From Metropolis

MONTREAL WILL BE CALLED UPON TO SHOW APPRECIATION OF HER GREATEST ASSET

McGill's Million Dollar Endowment Fund Campaign starts on Monday. It will continue till Friday. In a week's time, then, McGill will be free from all trace of financial embarrassment, free to embark upon a policy of expansion and improvement such as she has never before known.

Or, a possible alternative, she will fall in her object, and sink back into the old rut, despondent and discouraged, in the bitter knowledge that her vast services to the community have been spurned, and that she can no longer carry on many of those services in the future.

That such will be the case no true lover of Old McGill believes. The odds are good. Never before has there been such enthusiasm. Never before have the business men of the community realized to such an extent the importance of our University.

Organization, quiet and effective, has been going on for a long time. Lists have been prepared, literature printed, canvassers secured. The Board of Trade and the Chambre de Commerce are on record as approving McGill's activities. Dr. Barclay gave a spirited address before the Canadian Club on Tuesday. The city papers are unanimous in their support.

A downtown office has been secured in Freeman's Hotel, on St. James street. A neat little pamphlet is being issued, having on the outside the McGill crest and the title, "A Montreal Asset Needing Montreal Support." In it are briefly set forth the reasons for the campaign. For thirty years McGill has made no appeal to the citizens. In that time the number of its students has grown from 400 to 2200.

Next is a list of its services to the English speaking citizens of Montreal. It provides them with teachers, lawyers, doctors, ministers, farmers, engineers.

Its needs are then put forward — Funds for the payment of adequate salaries to enable it to retain its best professors.

Funds to enable it to maintain its place and prestige and to meet the growing needs of our national life.

New equipment for its famous laboratories.

Dormitories and other equipment or the moral, social and physical betterment of its students, on the land recently given by Sir William Macdonald.

But the imperative need is that the University shall be put on a self-sustaining basis. The Provincial Government only gives $3,000 per annum. Students' fees are higher than at any other University in Canada.

Following is a list of the gentlemen forming the Citizens' Committee who will help to secure the necessary funds. R. B. Angus, Esq., is chair-

HISTORY AFFORDS NO ANALOGY OF GREAT BRITAIN'S TRIUMPH IN GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

SIR ANDREW FRASER DISCOUNTS PREVALENT MISCONCEPTIONS OF ANARCHY AND SEDITION—BENEFICENT RULE IS UNIVER-SALLY POPULAR

The students of McGill University were yesterday given the unique privilege of hearing one of Britain's real Empire builders. Sir Andrew Fraser is known throughout the world as one of the staunchest pillars in that galaxy of heroic figures which constitutes the government of India. For no less than thirty-seven years did he serve the Crown in the most difficult of its possessions to govern or control.

About 500 students assembled in Molson's Hall yesterday at 5 o'clock to hear Sir Andrew. Among these was a large representation of co-eds from Victoria College. Sir Andrew Fraser entered the Hall escorted by Dean Moyse, Rev. Dr. Johnston, and Mr. Stuart Ramsay, President of the Students' Society. In introducing the speaker Dean Moyse regretted that owing to the Junior Dance it had been impossible to secure the Union Hall in which it is customary to greet the distinguished visitors of the University. That Muse the Junior Dance enjoyed an all-powerful popularity in McGill. The Hall in which McGill was listening to Sir Andrew was the most ancient in the University, although it had, unfortunately acquired the reputation of being a "den of torture" to fearful students. With reference to the guest of the meeting, Dean Moyse paid some striking tributes. As governor of the great province of the Indian Empire Sir Andrew had toiled long and unrelentingly. The success which he had achieved was largely due to an unerring insight into the psychology of man, individually and collectively. The Dean felt that Sir Andrew's words might have considerable influence in shaping the careers of the embryo publicists and statesmen which are present in any gathering of McGill students.

On rising to speak Sir Andrew Fraser was greeted with prolonged applause. He was very pleased and commenced his singularly interesting discourse in a very happy vein. It gave him great pleasure to be thus addressing an assemblage of young people. He remembered quite distinctly his own undergraduate days at Edinburgh when he felt "as great a respect for himself as he has now." Although for an old man, on the shelf from active service, looking for the end of his days, gazing upon

CORRESPONDENCE

UNION PRESIDENT DEFENDS COMMITTEE

The Editor,
The "McGill Daily."
Dear Sir:—Two letters signed respectively "Captious Critic" and "Octo," appeared in your issue of the 16th inst., criticising the action of the House Committee of the Union in closing the Grill Room,
call for some reply on the part of the Executive.

It would necessitate needless repetition on my part, were I to answer these letters separately. I shall, therefore, confine my remarks to trying to explain the position which the House Committee to take this step, also to correct several wrong impressions, that your correspondents hold.

"Captious Critic's" opinion of the Dining Room is, I think, not generally supported, so far as I know by the majority of the members. It is not my intention to enter into controversy regarding it. He apparently does not like the "eat to live"
atmosphere, which, according to him prevails in the Dining Room. Surely few of us have come to the stage
where we LIVE TO EAT.

Furthermore, he remarks that the closing of the Grill Room is caused by the fact that "the caterer is not making the money from it which he thinks its upkeep justifies." That,
r. Editor, is the exact position in nutshell, but if anything is not quite strong enough. Mr. Walsh has in this year actually running the Grill Room at a loss, owing to the decrease in membership, following increased fee. Mr. Walsh appealed the House Committee on matter and claimed that, while he was in a position to compel
our contract to keep the Grill
open, it would be obviously to hold him to that in view of the fact that, when this contract was drawn up the membership of the Union was in the region of some 500,
and today it has not nearly the same. He suggested that he be allowed to serve Grill Room orders in the Dining Room, thus allowing at least cartall expenses. This was not on the following condition that the Dining Room is to be open ALL DAY, and Grill Room
orders therein until 7 p.m., and the Grill Room is to be open until 10 p.m. There have no fear of the Grill Room being closed.

He decided to allow smoking in the Dining Room, except during table d'hote meal
times, and that there be
comparatively few privileges understood that the Grill Room be reopened just as
membership warrants it.
The cooking of Grill
orders in the same kitchen as
the Dining Room, Mr.
Walsh says that the standard
of the Grill Room will be maintained.

He also decided to allow smoking in the Dining Room, except during table d'hote meal
times, and that there be
comparatively few privi-
leges understood that the Grill Room be reopened just as
membership warrants it.

orders in the same kitchen as

Walsh says that the standard
of the Grill Room will be maintained.

tained.

I have now in stock a full line of the latest Imported Fall Suits and Overcoat-ings and will be glad to welcome any of my former customers at old McGill. A special pure indigo blue serge will be sold to students only at twenty-five dollars. At the price you cannot buy a better tailored garment anywhere in town.

order.

While, Mr. Editor, from a strictly business viewpoint, it would have been possible to hold Mr. Walsh to his contract, yet, under the circumstances, would it have been the fair thing to do? I think not. There is a saying that when a man says:
"Business is business," one may know he is about to do a mean thing
and there is much truth in the statement.

Mr. Walsh is not catering here for his health, and to keep him to the letter of a contract made some two years ago, under conditions that do not exist at the present time, thereby involving him in unnecessary financial loss, would not be in keeping with the spirit and traditions of Old McGill.

No one regrets the closing of the Grill Room more than do the House Committee, but it is a misfortune which must be laid at the door of those who should have supported the Union and did not.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor for your kindness in publishing this, which I trust will be found reasonable by the members of the Union, I remain, Yours respectfully,

ALLAN M. STRANG,
President McGill Union.

The Editor of the McGill Daily.
McGill Union,
328 Sherbrooke Street,
Montreal.

Dear Sir:—As the author of a letter which appeared in one of your previous issues, re the closing of the Grill Room little explanation from me is due.

In that letter a suggestion of censure was cast upon Mr. Walsh, the caterer, whereas from subsequent discussion with the Secretary of the Union,
I learn that such remarks as I limited
in that epistle should have been directed against the House Committee,
who after close examination of Mr.
Walsh's accounts, acquiesced in his action, and gave their sanction to it as justifiable.

Thanking you for the use of your columns to make this necessary explanation, I remain, Yours sincerely,
"CAPTIOUS CRITIC."

C. T. PACIFIC ISSUES DESCRIPTIVE PAMPHLET

A new publication has just been issued by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway in connection with a territory which is practically unknown.
This publication deals with the Plateau and Valley lands in Central British Columbia, and which will be reached by the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway west of Fort George and east to Hazelton,
British Columbia.

The descriptive matter was secured
with much difficulty by an exploration party sent out last year who discovered the possibilities of the marvellously rich and climate-favored land referred to, and the statements made are based directly on these researches. Facts have also been secured and incorporated in this publication from Government Agents'
reports and equally reliable sources, and every care has been taken in the compilation of the text which will be found correct in all statements.

The publication deals with the markets, mineral production, climate,
settlement, soil and class of lands,
temperature, altitude, pre-emption, timber lands, homesteads, etc., and also gives full particulars as to how to secure Government lands, taxation, education, social conditions and advice to emigrants.

A new and very interesting map
accompanies the book which is profusely illustrated and most interesting in every particular. The illustrations are made from direct photographs taken by the specially equipped party sent out by the Grand Trunk System last year.

The prospects for the Harvard Hockey team look very bright this season.

THE MILITARY COURSE

Although the fact is not generally known, the reserve of officers in connection with our militia and regulars would not be nearly sufficient if a war were to break out in which our militia were called to the field. The record made by our men at the Riel Rebellion and the Boer War proved conclusively that there is no lack of courage in the Canadian. But courage is one thing and knowledge is another. A private or a non-com.
can be trained in a comparatively short time, but not so the officer from the lieutenant and captain to the colonel. Apart from the physical training received in drill practice, it is essential that those men should have a thorough understanding of the laws, rules, methods, tactics, etc., connected with the handling of men in time of war. It was with a view of overcoming this difficulty that the Canadian Government established at great expense the Military Course in McGill, and it is but right that we McGill men should do our share in attending the course.

This military course, although but little known, is one of the best in the University. It is presided over by three men of ability and large and practical experience. Col. English, who lectures on Administration and Tactics is the General Staff Officer for the 4th Division of Canada, with headquarters in Montreal. Major Robertson who takes the course
in History and Strategy, is General Officer of the 5th Division, with headquarters in Quebec, from which city he travels at great inconvenience to deliver his lectures. Capt. Tyrrell of the Royal Engineers has charge of Engineering and Map Reading. From the above it will be seen that not alone are we fortunate in the choice of our professors, but that the subjects are important and interesting, both to the military-minded and to those of wide knowledge, whose aim it is to understand the great International affairs of the world. Space does not permit of our giving particulars regarding the different branches of the course, but on investigating it will be found that the subjects dealt with are of the deepest possible interest.

The course may be taken in either one or two years. A satisfactory arrangement is to take the Administration and Engineering the first year,
the Map Reading and Topography being done in the following September in the Survey School. In the second year there would then remain the more advanced subjects of Tactics and Strategy. This would call for the attendance of two lectures a week the first year and for the second.
On the other hand the whole course can easily be taken in one year, there being in that case six lectures a week. This is certainly a very small amount of time in proportion to the knowledge obtained.
The hours are made to interfere as little as possible with other lectures and could be changed from the present schedule if more desirable ones
could be found.

The course is entirely free, while the books are either presented or sold at a nominal figure.

In the case of those who desire to take a commission in either the Imperial of Canadian Navy, or in the Militia, the privilege is granted of being attached to any regiment of regulars as a Junior Lieutenant for 12
days during the summer months.
This is certainly one of the easiest ways of obtaining a commission.

A point which must be borne in mind is that, while these military advantages are offered free of charge
a student who attends the course is not obliged afterwards to take any active part in military matters.

The course is open to all McGill
students in Arts, Law and Science, nor is it necessary that a student should attend in any particular year;
it is better, however, to take it in the first two years if possible. It is not as yet too late to join the classes for this year and those who are at all interested should see Col. English or Major Robertson in Room 54, Science Building, at 5 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday or Friday.
The Daily has no hesitation in recommending this matter to the serious consideration of all McGill men.

CADETS ARE DOUBLE CHAMPIONS

THE INTERMEDIATE AND JUNIOR INTERCOLLEGIATE ON SATURDAY

WILL GO AFTER THE DOMINION.

The Royal Military College Cadets did some great work on Saturday by winning both the Intermediate and Junior Intercollegiate Championships. They defeated Varsity Thirds in the morning by a close score and their victory in Toronto on the previous week gave them the Junior Championship by a good majority. In the Intermediate game, Varsity Second beat them by 19 to 17, but their lead of 6 points from the previous game gave them the round by four points. The Intermediate game was very exciting, Varsity rallying in the 4th quarter and playing the Cadets during the last ten minutes beginning of the game. The score was 17 to 4 in favor of Varsity run order and came to winning the game.

The second year in succession have won the Intercollegiate Championship for the last two years they won it up by winning the game. We extend our heartfelt congratulations to them on their championship and sincerely trust they will bring both the Intermediate and Junior Intercollegiate Championships to their good success.

to go to the Intercollegiate and we should again be able to show the Canadian football world the overwhelming superiority of Intercollegiate football.

INTER YEAR BASKETBALL FINAL

DEFEATED JUNIORS IN CLOSE GAME.

By a score of 33-25 the Freshmen defeated the Juniors yesterday afternoon in the gymnasium and thereby won the Inter-Year Championship and the trophy consisting of five silver cups, presented by Dr. Tait Mackenzie. The game was well contested from start to finish, every man playing a good, fast game. The particular stars were Baldwin for the Freshmen and Burrow for the Juniors.

The line-up:
Freshmen: Smith, Seale, Baldwin, Busby, Willisroft.
Juniors: Heaton, Burrow, Leach, Atkinson, Cunningham.

ARTS BUILDING

Professor A. Willey, D. Sc., F.R.S., will deliver an illustrated lecture on "The Races and Cults of Ceylon" before the Oriental Society on November 21st in the Engineering Building. Professor Willey is a prominent member of the Royal Asiatic Society of Ceylon and has a wide knowledge of the Orient. He is particularly interested in anthropological questions and it is expected that he will have a number of very important observations to present before the Society.

This Society, of which the membership now exceeds 100, has an unusually representative syllabus which will be published in the course of a few days and from which it will be seen that Egypt, Palestine, Ceylon, Syria, Constantinople, India, China, and Japan will come up for study in the course of the season.

AMERICAN SEASON

NEARING FINISH

DIGSIVE CAME NEXT SATURDAY WHEN PRINCETON MEET YALE

BEST YEAR IN A DECADE.

Nineteen-eleven will undoubtedly go down in the annals of American football history as the banner year in every way. The new rules which have been undergoing a process of revision for some years past are now at last well understood. The game has been freed from roughness. Mass plays have been rather discounted, and the whole style slowly revolutionized so that a gridiron struggle is a more spectacular affair than of yore. However, probably the most outstanding feature of the season is the renewal of the relationship between the old rivals, Princeton and Harvard. The advent of this contest has made it easier to pass judgment on the big eastern teams and to pick the college to which to award the laurels and the American football championship. These various circumstances have all combined to make the season the greatest in a decade.

PRINCETON'S CHANCES.

The triumph of Princeton over Harvard may go a long way towards settling the championship this year. If the Tigers can beat Yale next Saturday the honors are theirs. Princeton's win over Portsmouth last Saturday was rather of a fluky variety. The score was 3 to 0 and the Tigers' only tally came on an attempted field goal. The ball fell short about fifteen yards but hit the ground and bounded over the bar. Princeton was doped for an easy win but Dartmouth proved a worthy opponent. In White, the Tigers have unearthed the phenom of the season. He is fast, quick and difficult to hold and Yale will have to watch him carefully next Saturday. His wonderful 80 yard run for a touchdown in the Harvard game will never be forgotten by those who were fortunate enough to witness it.

YALE BEATS BROWN.

The outstanding defeat of the season so far has been the humiliation of Yale at the hands of Army. Army won last year but Eli was out for revenge and her supporters were looking for a win. Yale took Brown into camp at New Haven on Saturday and so managed to keep in the running for the premier honors. Captain Howe's men are rather handicapped on account of the injuries which are rather more numerous among the Blue players than usual this year. Walter Camp, Jr., who is a son of the famous Walter Camp, Sr., the most widely known athlete that ever wore the "Y," is practically the only regular who has not been injured recently. Camp has been putting up a very reliable and consistent game. The struggle next Saturday against the Orange and Black is being eagerly looked forward to by all lovers of the sport and it is felt that Yale, always a strong finisher, will give good account of herself.

HARVARD OUT OF IT.

The defeat of Harvard by the Tigers has put a crimp in the Crimson's championship hopes. This setback was followed by another when Carlisle beat them on the Cambridge campus, the Redmen taking the big end of a 18 to 15 argument. However, despite the fact that they are out of the running for the first honours the Crimson are working hard for their game with Yale which takes place on the 25th. Last year Yale upset the dope of the football world by holding Harvard to a tie. This was unexpected in view of the fact that Army and Brown had both managed to down Blue.

Such is the spirit of the two great universities that they would be willing to lose all their other games in order to win the one great struggle. It is the culminating point of the season, everything is merely working up to it and it generally forms a stirring finish to the season.

SATURDAY'S RESULTS.

At Athol:—Cornell, 6; Michigan, 0.
At New Haven:—Yale, 15; Brown, 0.
At Cambridge:—Carlisle, 18; Harvard, 15.
At Annapolis:—Navy, 32; West Virginia, 0.
At West Point:—Army, 20; Bucknell, 2.
At Princeton:—Princeton, 3; Dartmouth, 0.
At Baltimore:—Virginia, 32; Johns Hopkins, 0.
At Pittsburgh:—U. of Pittsburgh, 12; Villa Nova, 0.
At Philadelphia:—U. of Pennsylvania, 23; Lafayette, 6.
At New York:—N. Y. U., 0; Rutgers, 0.
At Bethlehem:—Swathmore, 9; Lehigh, 2.
At Worcester:—Holy Cross, 24; Colby, 0.

At Middletown, Conn.:—Williams, 6; Wesleyan, 5.

The Freshmen of Yale and Princeton played a scoreless tie at New Haven.

Should Princeton win the great struggle with the sons of Old Eli next Saturday we may safely award them the laurels. It is sure to be a most strenuous affair, fraught with many spectacular and exciting situations. Yale is hoping to have all her injured veterans on the field and will strain every nerve to win. Princeton has other games beside this but she could hardly be bested if she once had the first honors in her grasp, and would allow no one to shake off her all-but-won laurels.

DETAILED ACCOUNT OF POLO VICTORY

M. A. A. VS. MCGILL.

On Tuesday night McGill played the Nautique Polo Club in the Laurier Baths.

Play started very late with the Intermediate game. McGill made a good start and there was a considerable amount of play near the Nautique goal. After a few minutes play, however, things took a very different turn, and the Nautique team, playing with good combination, piled up the goals, the half-time score being 6-1 in favor of the latter. The second half went little better with McGill. The team played with very little combination, but shot two goals to their opponents' two in this half, Nautique winning with a score of 8-3.

The Senior team more than made up for the defeat of the second team by easily winning with a score of 14-0, although without the services of De Hart, who has been such a strong shooter, and who was unable to attend.

McGill started in the shallow end, and immediately got to business, the first six minutes' play showing a lead to McGill of four goals, one of which was shot by Buckley, the other three by McGill. From a corner throw Smith obtained possession and cleverly put the ball into the net. The combination of the McGill team was extraordinary, Smith, McGill and Buckley passing to one another backwards and forwards in front of their opponents' goal. How many goals they could have scored it is difficult to say, but they satisfied themselves with a half-time score of nine goals to their opponents' nil.

It was arranged that the second half should only consist of two three minute quarters, instead of two ten minute quarters. The McGill team went ahead, scoring when and how they wished. During the remaining six minutes play McGill increased the score by five goals, winning by 14-0. Baldwin played a strong game and scored two goals with long shots.

McGill, at centre, was the greatest goal-getter, scoring 8. Smith played his usual brilliant game, scoring 2 goals. Besides a fine water-tight play, Smith is undoubtedly a humorist; often when a few inches from the Nautique goal he would terrify the goal-keeper by getting into a good position to shoot and then would pass back to the goal-keeper's great satisfaction.

Buckley, who accounted for two goals, seemed to be enjoying himself with his opponent, who must have weighed somewhere about 60 lbs. He was often seen walking about in the shallow end with the ball under his arm and his slender opponent hanging around his neck in a most affectionate attitude. All Skelton wanted in goal was a comfortable chair and a cigar to have completed his happiness.

Senior Teams.

McGill — Skelton, Baldwin, Smith, McGill, Buckley.
Nautique — Gunn, Wiest, Clark, Thompson, Walker.

Intermediate Teams.

McGill — McKay, Coy, Crosley, Gilchrist, Penzance, Redman.
Nautique — Mercer, Forin, Thompson, Rydberg, Veinot, Lyle.

On Thursday next McGill are playing their return match with the M. A. A. in the Laurier Baths. The game starts at 8.15. The last game McGill played with M. A. A. was the most exciting game this season, so do not fail to see it. The team will want all the support you can give them.

The line-up of the Seniors will be the same as Thursday's, with the addition of de Hart.

A cereal manufacturing company offer the position of vice president and treasurer to a man with a university education—if he invests $125,000.

Princeton will award a "P" to any members of the cross-country team finishing first in the Yale-Princeton meet or among the first ten in the Intercollegiate.

CLEVELAND ANXIOUS FOR MCGILL
(Late Special.)

Word was received late last night that Cleveland has made a particularly tempting offer to have McGill and Cornell play three games on their ice. Negotiations have been on foot for some time and this is the first definite result.

Harvard is anxious for McGill in February and the executive is considering the proposal favorably. It is impossible to get Harvard up here then the McGill Club will most certainly visit Boston.

Chinese students compared statistically with Americans show higher regard for discipline. They excel in memory work and reasoning powers, but have poor imaginations.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

SPECIAL ANNUAL NOTICE.

The Editorial Board of the 1913 Annual are still in need of many drawings and letterings for the various years and clubs. An attempt has been made to get into touch with all members of the University possessing talent along these lines and some excellent work has already been completed or is in preparation. It is felt, however, that there are many who could do good work along these lines who are unknown to the Editorial Board, and any such will confer a favor by sending in their contributions to the Chairman of the Editorial Board, 1913 Annual, Stratheona Hall. Contributions are also asked for from those who have good snap-shots of scenes around College or whose talents lie along literary lines. A number of Annuals will be awarded as prizes for deserving work in the above lines.

"OLD BOYS" DINNER.

The Old Boys of Bishop's College School are taking this matter up energetically, and there is every reason to believe that a record number will attend this most important reunion, to be held at the Place Viger Hotel, at seven o'clock on Thursday, November 23rd.

Many of Montreal's most prominent business men, ably assisted by a host of ardent workers, including a number of McGill students, are making a great effort to reach the "Old Boys" of this city. But, owing to there being upwards of nine hundred, this is a practical impossibility, so with the kind permission of the Editor, a large supply of tickets have been left at the Gazette Office. We have been able to place these tickets at the low figure of two dollars, and the management especially requests all those intending to be present to provide themselves with tickets on or before Monday, the 20th.

Tomorrow at 5 o'clock Sir Andrew Fraser will address the undergraduate body in Molson's Hall. The address will be a rare treat and all students should make a point of being there.

MCGILL MEDICAL

SOCIETY

The McGill Medical Society held the fourth of its regular fortnightly meetings last Friday evening.

Before commencing the entertainment of the evening, a short time was spent in business. The communication was read from Laval, inviting representatives from McGill's medical undergraduate body to attend a grand concert at the Theatre National on Nov. 16th. Mr. A. J. Herbert, Med. '12 was elected as our representative at this function. Messrs. Skeenes and MacLeod were elected to represent McGill at the coming medical functions at Queen's and Toronto respectively.

Messrs. Lennox and Walcott were appointed auditors for the Medical Society for the present term.

Mr. Lennox proposed two slight alterations in the Society's constitution, which will be voted on after a lapse of one month.

Business over, Mr. Sutherland inroduced Professor Todd, the speaker of the evening, as a McGill grad of 1900, who had already attained a world-wide reputation through his researches on the tsetse-fly disease in Africa.

Dr. Todd delivered a most interesting address, first giving a history of the study of tropical medicine, and the methods used by different workers.

This was followed by a description of life and conditions in the Congo Country through which the Dutton and Todd expedition of 1902-05 passed, interspersed with numerous interesting and profusely illustrated with lantern photographs.

The audience's appreciation of Dr. Todd's entertainment was shown by the vigorous applause which accompanied the vote of thanks tendered the speaker. In replying, Dr. Todd spoke of the Students' Loan Fund which he hopes will soon be floated for the benefit of men who have reached the third or fourth year, and find themselves handicapped from further immediate progress by lack of funds.

The next item on the programme was a vocal solo by Mr. Hartmann, which was heartily enjoyed.

Dr. Simpson then spoke a few words to the meeting, in appreciation of Dr. Todd and his work.

Mr. C. R. Bourne, the Society's reporter, read a case for diagnosis, which taxed the ability of all our best guessers, bluffers and diagnosticians, and opened the way for some interesting discussions.

The meeting then adjourned. The next meeting of the Society will be the first of a short series of "Student's Nights" at which interesting cases will be described by men who have actually had charge of them.

This feature is a new one, the suggestion of the Society's Councillors, and should prove of unusual interest.

A more detailed announcement of the plans for the next meeting will be published later in the "Daily."

FORMER MEMBER OF SCI. '13 ON WAY TO RECOVERY

The Daily is glad to be able to report that Mr. Robert R. Kirkpatrick, well-known as a popular Soph. in Science last year, who has been in the Royal Victoria suffering from an attack of inflammatory rheumatism, is on his way to recovery and in a few days will be around again. Mr. Kirkpatrick was a member of the Boxing and Wrestling Clubs and took an active interest in student affairs. His recovery will be a matter of gratification to his many friends and well-wishers.

SPECIAL SERIES OF BIOGRAPHIES

NO. 2—J. J. McDougall, SCI. '14

The second of our series is devoted to Mr. J. J. McDougall indifferently known as "Mac," "The Microbe" or "The White Hope." The second of these pseudonyms we hasten to remark is derived from the relative sizes of Mac and the rest of his family.

Born at Blue Mountains, N. S., on July 13th, 1890, Mac persistently believes in a cruel fate which launched him into the world on so inauspicious a date. In fact he has gone so far as to wear a sweater with the letters N. G. on it, but whether this refers to Mac or New Glasgow we leave to our readers to decide. Personally, being known to our hero, we prefer to remain silent.

Our White Hope has travelled some. His early education was commenced at Nova Scotia, thence he drifted to New York, after which the wilds of Arizona claimed him for their own. Arizona is a wonderful country, believe us, and if you don't, just ask Mac, we will guarantee you much entertainment. He was down there again last summer while the Mexican Revolution was on and had some interesting times, but says he doesn't like Mexicans.

But to return: In 1903, we find him once again in N. S. and it was at this time that he first applied himself to the weights when he cleaned up in the heavy events at the school sports quite naturally and regularly. His debut, however, took place in 1909 when he first came before the public eye at the Maritime Championships and secured the championship for the hammer throw, which he still holds. It was in 1910 that Mac first dawned on McGill and we can remember going out to watch him trot down to the shack with his hammer and shot and his tape for his daily "work-out."

He did not up to this time throw the discus, but the discus is after all only a light little thing and he was soon up around 100 feet. Meanwhile he was working away at the shot and the hammer and every once in a while, just to show he didn't care, would come out with his clothes on and break the three college records.

Naturally, when sports day came, he won all his events, halving the all-round championship with Ken Dowie, each scoring 15 points. Moreover Mac distinguished himself by breaking the hammer record.

At Queen's that year he was unlucky in being disqualified in two of his puts and so only got second in the shot. He also got second in the hammer, but "copped" the discus in great style.

This year again Mac is "all to the merr." He first led off in the Annual Sports by breaking all the College records and winning the individual championship. A week later at the Intercollegiate meet he again captured all three firsts. Had the weather only been a little warmer we have no doubt that the pages of the Y. M. C. A. handbook devoted to Track and Field records would have been entirely revolutionized. However, three firsts were distinctly good and brought with them the Intercollegiate Individual Championship.

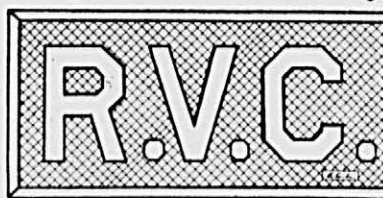

Mac's best performances are:—Hammer, 118 feet, 3 1/2 inches.—Fresh-Soph. sports, 1911.

Discus, 111 feet, 11 1/2 inches, Inter-year Meet, 1911.

Shot, 38 feet, 11 inches, "Daily" Handicaps, 1911.

Of these the hammer throw is better than either the McGill or the Intercollegiate record and the Discus and Shot are both better than the McGill record.

We have no doubt that next year will see Mac better than ever and each succeeding year will find him busily engaged in breaking the records he made the year before. He still has two years with us and is not the sort of man to let the grass grow under his feet, so that we may confidentially say that Mac will soon take all the records home with him and may yet pull the Intercollegiate Championship out of the fire. Here's to his very good health.

EXCITING BASKETBALL--- JUNIOR VS. SOPHS.

On Wednesday the third match of the Inter Year Series, Juniors vs. Sophs, resulted in a victory for the Sophs., score 13-10. The game was very even throughout. For several minutes after the game started there was no score, and then the Juniors won the first points—a field goal and a free shot. The first half ended with the Juniors in the lead, 7-4.

The beginning of the second half saw three points added to the Junior score, and until almost the middle of the half the Juniors still led 10-4. Then the Sophs. suddenly commenced to play-up with a vim that gave them nine points and left them winners with a score of 13-10.

The Juniors had better combination that the Sophomores, but their passing was at times extremely erratic. Also the centre line of the Juniors wasted far too much time passing among themselves when they would have been better employed getting the ball on to the forwards. The Sophomore forwards got clear for passes much better than the Juniors, and their combination work was about the best on the Sophomore team. In spite of the inferior team play of the Sophs. as a whole, they played a much harder, steadier game than the Juniors.

The teams were:

DELTA SIGMA TEA.

The Delta Sigma Society held their annual lecture and tea on the afternoon of Wednesday, November 15th. Prof. MacNaughton as lecturer delighted his audience with a most brilliant paper which fairly sparkled and scintillated with Macnaughtonisms. His subject was "The Voltaire of Antiquity" and he handled it in a manner that was fully appreciated by his hearers. After Miss Cameron, as honorary president of the Society, had voiced the thanks of those present, an adjournment was made to the dining-room which was in gala dress for the occasion. Here refreshments were served and the lecture discussed. There were many friends of the students present, as well as several graduates, and a large representation from such literary clubs as the Readers' Club, The Historical, and the Debating Club. Altogether the affair was a decided success, and was voted one of the pleasantest of the kind that has ever taken place.

DEAN MOYSE'S POEMS RECEIVE SIGNAL TRIBUTE

We are glad to receive such splendid appreciations of Dean Moysse's poems as appeared in the British Medical Journal of October 21st. Readers of the Daily will doubtless remember our review of "The Lure of Earth" a fortnight ago. Since then the book has been placed on sale at Miss Poole's and other booksellers in town for the almost nominal price of 35 cents a copy.

We reproduce in full the review which appeared in the British Medical Journal.

Prof. Chas. E. Moysse of Montreal is known by fame as the author of several writings, all marked by delicate fancy, and some, such as: "Shakespeare's Skull" touched with graceful humour. We have recently received from Dr. Elkin Mathews a small volume of verse entitled "The Lure of Earth and Other Poems."

A really great poem might be likened with a good deal of justice to a pebble thrown into the water, the ever-widening circles made by its fall being taken to represent the almost unlimited influence it unconsciously exerts over the literature which comes after it, and the innumerable verses for which it has served both as inspiration and as model.

"The poet's eye in a fine frenzy rolling" doth glance from heaven to earth and from earth to heaven in the search for a subject worthy of his lyre, and the masterpieces of Shakespeare, Milton and our other great poets must always continue to be legitimate sources of inspiration to others. It is Keat's exquisite "Ode to a Nightingale" which has inspired what we think is by far the finest poem in Prof. Moysse's collection of verse, "The Lure of Earth." But all the others will be welcomed by lovers of poetry as the expression of a true literary feeling and a highly cultivated taste. The author possesses a strong sense of the beautiful and a love of nature in all her varying moods which lifts his writings above the ordinary and which, joined to a great facility of expression, and a happy knack of avoiding the commonplace makes his little volume a worthy companion to those which have already proceeded from his pen."

residing here for upwards of 20 years Lucian received a Government appointment in Egypt where he died shortly after.

His nimble, subtle, and cruelly telling wit never deserted him. Nothing in heaven or on earth except the Roman Emperor escapes his arrow. Impractical philosophy, vague abstruse speculation, and hollow rhetoric were equally distasteful to Lucian and received equal ridicule at his hands. He was a "real pragmatist" not unlike some advanced thinkers of modern times.

For the Christians he had no sympathy. His was an essentially non-religious nature. In this he but reflected the spirit of the times as exemplified particularly in Marcus Aurelius. His character analysis of Alexander, Antiochus and others is penetrating and exhaustive. Human life was to Lucian nothing more or less than a bubble which was bound to burst at one time or another. He had considerable in common with the Christian martyr who sacrificed life and fortune for the cause of virtue but he was utterly lacking in the sense of a positive appreciation of virtue which after all is the crowning quality of the Christian.

Prof. MacNaughton's lecture was accorded generous applause and a vote of thanks was proposed by Miss Cameron, honorary president of the Society. Miss Cameron referred to the speaker in particularly happy phrases. Prof. MacNaughton represented in the truest sense "a finished product of scholarship." She felt sure that those present would return to their work refreshed and vivified by the delightful address they had been privileged to hear.

ALUMNI NOTES

SOME NEWS OF THE GRADUATES.

The Editorial Board invite contributions to their column from all readers of the Daily. Without the co-operation of our subscribers it is impossible to make it a success, and having successful Alumni News means aiding the paper materially, by making it of greater interest to the graduates.
